Line Squall Causes Wide Area Damage

Reports from the various insurance agencies in town indicate that the Thursday night storm damage was largest along a line from Lake Michigan to the County Road north of the city. The storm struck around 9 p. m. felling numerous trees and causing severe wind damage.

The Charles Holtcamp home at the Danish Landing had extensive damage when trees fell directly on the house. There was damage reported from the Ernest Larson, Otto and Rollo Failing homes on the Dan Road, the Marius Hanson and Jerry Smoek homes. Part of a tree smashed the back porch of the Arthur Carlson home. Wind blew down a tree which raised the sidewalk up by the Fred Lamm home on Vine Street. The Arnie Mauren, Kenneth Johnson and Lewis Sillwag homes were damaged.

The wind smashed the Dick Anes garage and the Dan Kolka garage on Clyde street, carried the Keith Arthur TV antenna from Gaylen street to the Fish Hatchery, took down lights, fixtures, sucked the steel casement and complete window out of the North End Leonard Station and lifted the roof. The Forbes Motel garage was moved off its foundation. The sign and awning at Curley's Drive-In were blown down.

Charles Williams on Plum st., watched his aluminum boat sail away in the air. He reported to Sheriff Art Clough that the last time he saw it was 40 feet up in the air.

An inside door was blown out on the James Brown home on Smith street. Trees went down in the Harold Drake yard, and there was roofing blown from the Hatt Motel. Debris piled up at the hospital and Fish Hatchery. A tree top at the Warren Stephan home was broken off.

The Bruce Smiths had a hole punched in one of their canoes, the sign blown down from the livery, and the patio roof lifted 4 inches.

On the west side, a tree went down across the highway at the Nelson Motel, causing an auto accident. Another big one on M-76 blocked the road in the Beaver Creek area. In the down river vicinity there were trees across the road but not blocking it, and trees down in the John Cox yard. The power was off for around eight or nine hours in two separate disturbances, and the phone lines were out of commission for a longer period.

This is a broad picture of the sweep of the storm, and there are possibly some instances which went unreported. Cleanup operations went into effect even before daylight in many cases, and were going forward at a good rate on Friday.

The Gus Williams boat in its light skinned into the Sam Sherwood home, taking out an entire window and part of the wall, then sailed on to rest in the Perry Akers yard finally. The Sherwoods reported that with the next gust of wind the boat home shook on its foundation.

Leslie Jackson Dies At Ann Arbor Hospital

Leslie Jackson of Chesaning, 86, passed away at the University Hospital in Ann Arbor on Wednesday, September 2, 1964, following an illness of several weeks. Funeral services were held at the Walker-Martin Funeral Home at 2 o'clock on Saturday, September 5, with the Rev. John A. Salles officiating. Burial was in the National Mausoleum in Chesaning.

The son of J. W. and Ida Jackson, Mr. Jackson was born in Chesaning, November 21, 1887, and spent his life there. He spent his summers in the area of the present day of the lake near Lovells. A retired the county businessman, he was a member of Saginaw Lodge No. 1, B.P.O. Elks, Mr.

County's Lone Elk Permit Holder Sees Good Success Chance

Morden Post of Frederic, the only Crawford County hunter lucky enough to get a permit to shoot an elk this year, sees chances of success quite high.

One night last week, Post and his wife scouted the area where he intends to hunt and spotted 16 elk including one large bull. Post has been hunting since the age of 10 and rarely fails to fill his deer hunting license. He has downed four moose in the past four years in Canada and he and his wife are planning a trip to Wyoming this fall for antelope and mule deer hunting excursion.

Post was the only winner of an elk permit from Crawford County where it was estimated that approximately 500 applied for one.

Two Accidents Mar Holiday

Two personal injury accidents marred the Labor Day holiday weekend in Crawford County. Both occurred early on Sunday morning, September 6th.

The first took place on old 27 about a tenth of a mile south of the junction of M-76 and old 27 at 2:25 a. m. and was investigated by State Police of the Houghton-Lake Post. They reported the car was driven by Robert A. Jackson, 52, of Lansing. The vehicle crossed the highway and left the road on the left side striking some trees. Jackson was injured as was Georgiana Sanders, 36, of Mount Pleasant and Henry William Joseph, 47, also of Mount Pleasant. The three were taken to Mercy Hospital for treatment. During routine checks, it was discovered that Jackson suffered from tuberculosis. State Police said, and he was transferred to the Ingham County Sanitarium near Lansing.

Other passengers were Daniel Fisher, 46, and Jacob Fisher, 44, both of Mount Pleasant. The driver was arrested on a charge of driving under the influence of alcohol and the passengers on drunk and disorderly charges. All will appear before Justice of the Peace Olin Williamson in the near future.

The second accident occurred on M-72 east of Grayling near Sunrise Road. The time was set as about 4:10 a. m. Cars driven by Fred Ray, 41, of North Branch and Clayton Turner, Jr., 18, of Flint were in a head-on crash. State Police of the Gaylord Post investigated. The investigation is continuing as Ray was so severely injured that he can not as yet be questioned. Both were taken to Mercy Hospital for treatment but Ray has since been transferred to Munson Hospital in Traverse City. State Police reported. Ray's car was headed west while Turner's vehicle was eastbound. State Police stated. They added that the cars seem to drift across the center line striking head-on.

Sheriff Arthur Clough reports that the same night a car-deer crash occurred on M-72 east of Grayling but no injury resulted to the car's occupants.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Slusser, Kyle, Dale and Raylene spent several days on vacation in the upper peninsula, sightseeing and playing golf.

ThriftyCheck

A New Personal Checking Account Service Announced by Local Bank

A new personal checking account described as "low-cost", "exclusive", and "a boon to the average bill-payer with nominal check requirements" is now being offered by the Grayling State Bank, Mr. John H. Alef, the bank's president announced today. The new bank service, called ThriftyCheck, is available in addition to the regular checking account service, long a popular method of handling personal finances in the community.

"The nature of a regular checking account with its fixed balance requirements often precludes its use by persons whose need for checks is limited to a few regular monthly bills," Mr. Alef said.

"With ThriftyCheck, an exclusive service at our bank, these people can now enjoy the convenience and safety of a checking account yet can keep their account balance as small as they wish. They pay only 10 cents per check and can open their account in a few minutes with as little for the initial deposit as they like."

Other no-cost features of the new ThriftyCheck account similar to those of regular checking accounts are: Customer's name printed on each check, a handy checkbook, and no charge for deposits.

Upcoming AuSable Canoe Race Brings Memories of the First

FROM AN OLD PANORAMA PHOTOGRAPH . . . in his canoe livery at Grayling, C. Ray Snider points out the winning team of Delbert Case and Allen Carr, who won the '48, 240 mile Grayling to Oscoda - AuSable River Valley Canoe Race. This Grayling team paddled the distance in 21 hours. Continuously starting at the 18th annual — longest canoe race in the state — the weekend of October 2-4.

C. Ray Snider, a former school teacher from Ohio, who came to Michigan in the middle 30's with twelve canoes and established a livery on the banks of the AuSable in Grayling, recalls how during the middle '40's a canoe salesman, an East Michigan Tourist Association representative, and a few spirited minded citizens were considering the possibilities of holding a canoe race from Grayling to Oscoda.

Some considered the feat impossible. However, after some exploratory ventures along the river course, many were convinced it could be done, and that an out-door event of this kind as a fall tourist attraction would be good for the AuSable River Valley area.

In September, 1947, 45 two-man teams lined the banks of the AuSable at Grayling for the start of the first canoe race to Oscoda, a river distance of 240 miles. As the teams were started, at approximately 15 second intervals, Snider recalls how he shook his head and remarked, "They'll never make it." (In fact, it wasn't until three weeks later that Snider actually did find out if anyone finished that first race when he received a letter from the late Frank Davis, then Executive Director for the East Michigan Tourist Association, who informed him it was a good race, completed in approximately 23 hours, and that he hoped it would become an annual affair.) The pace was grueling, and there were five dams to portage. Race official, Harry Curley, of Oscoda, compares the energy required to finish the race equivalent to a man shoveling 50 tons of coal without stopping.

A preliminary canoe race at Grayling will be held to determine starting positions for the 240 mile - Grayling to Mile to Oscoda - AuSable River Valley Canoe Race, October 3-4.

Friday, October 2, Grayling will be the scene of preparations and activities for the 18th running of the longest canoe race in the state. Teams entered in the AuSable Classic will assemble on the south shore of Lake Margrethe, near the Michigan National Guard Camp at Grayling, to compete in a 300-foot preliminary sprint "Pole Position" race, starting at 2:00 p. m. October 2nd. Teams will start the next two-day AuSable River race to Oscoda in the order they finish the "Pole Position" race.

Race officials have announced that teams can enter the Grayling to Oscoda race until 9:00 a. m., October 3rd. However, teams who do not participate in the pole position race will be started in the order a bona fide entry is received up until the entry deadline.

The Men's annual banquet will be held at the Chief Shoppenhagons Motor Hotel on Saturday evening September 19th. Special notices are being mailed.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Longworth spent the holiday weekend visiting the Wayne Townsends at Big Bay.

PONY TALES

By JANET W. OLSON

Before you start out on a ride how many of you take time to check your pony? Not enough of you I will wager. It's so easy to saddle and bridle your horse and start right out. This is so unfair as it doesn't take but an extra few moments to check. Your ride will be so much more enjoyable for both you and your horse if you take those extra few moments. Your ride should be something to look forward to for both you and your horse and if his saddle is pinching, the bit rubbing on his mouth, his girth twisted it certainly isn't going to be "pleasure" ride for either of you.

When you put your saddle on place it a little to far up on the horses back and then slide it back into place. This will help the horse's hair under the saddle to lie flat and will be much more comfortable. You should be able to slip all of the fingers of one hand under the pommel, or front, of the saddle. A saddle that rides low will pinch the horse's shoulders.

"Bits Of The World In Grayling"

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr. Strong,

The other day you called me to ask about my summer in Central America, and what had impressed me most during my stay there. First, I should tell you that I had a very agreeable roommate, a teacher from Oklahoma, and that we were among the most fortunate in our rooming accommodations. Our business was Mrs. Mervin de Jurado, a widow, who lived alone with a servant who had been with the family for 28 years. The house was beautifully furnished, had modern conveniences, and the meals were excellent. We lived within walking distance of the downtown section, but had to take the bus to the University of Costa Rica where we took our classes. We had three classes every day, plus four conferences or lectures a week. We also had several excursions to other schools, other towns, and at the end of the course we flew to Nicaragua, Honduras, El Salvador, and Guatemala.

It is very difficult to say what impressed me most in my six week stay in Costa Rica and one week tour of the other Central American countries. Many experiences come to mind and many conversations and observations clamor to be told. Perhaps the one over-all impression made by all the countries is that of the mountains, which we saw everywhere; over which we traveled by narrow tortuous roads; which hemmed in the railway that followed the river to Puerto Limon; over which we flew, to drop down suddenly onto the airports; and which we saw graphically depicted on a huge relief map in Guatemala City. Only in the narrow coastlands is there any amount of level ground; here the climate is hot and humid, and here we find the big banana plantations of United Fruit and Standard Fruit companies.

San Jose, the capital of Costa Rica, is of course, dominated now by the volcano Irazu, which has been belching ash off and on for the past 18 months. Prevailing winds carry this ash, which is really like a fine gray sand, toward the city, and there is not a day in which some does not sift down. Some days it is really bad, and in half an hour, there is a layer thick enough to show foot-prints as you walk down the sidewalk. Housewives are constantly battling the dust, mopping floors, hanging clothes indoors to dry, and stuffing paper in the cracks between the windows and frames, for it seeps in everywhere. Shopkeepers sweep their sidewalks several times a day, and keep their merchandise covered as much as possible. The city has imposed an additional tax to help pay the cost of cleaning the streets and hauling away the piles of ash that accumulate. Auto owners complain because it ruins the carburetors and jams up the hinges on the doors. It's the chief topic of conversation, and the first thing that a Costa Rican says, after being introduced to a visitor to his country, is an apology for the way San Jose looks nowadays.

All these things are a nuisance, and the people learn to live with them, but the problem is really more severe. The ash has clogged the water filters of the reservoir to such an extent that there are some areas of the city which do not get any water at all. The residents there must have water delivered by fire truck, and they try to store it in tanks on top of the roof if possible, in order to get a little bit of pressure so it will run out of the faucet. The water has to be boiled for drinking, and of course has to be used sparingly. Even then, the supply is sometimes exhausted before the trucks get around with some more. A few of the participants in the seminar with me were housed in the districts so affected and had first-hand experience with this problem.

Carlaño, a city about 15 miles from San Jose, has suffered avalanches of mud, which have killed several people, destroyed homes, ripped out bridges and inundated part of the Pan American Highway. In August we saw part of the cemetery being dug out of the debris which had covered it to a depth of four or more feet. We also saw the SeaBees working at the Reventado River, building levees, dredging channel and reconstructing a temporary train bridge. We were told that in May, when the SeaBee unit arrived in Costa Rica, the Communists tried to say that the U. S. was moving in to take over the country, but pictures in the newspapers which showed bulldozers, cranes and construction equipment proved effectively that the Communist propaganda was a lie. The people of Costa Rica are really grateful for the help that this little corps of U. S. marines has given them.

Since the economy of Costa Rica depends chiefly on coffee, the loss of this crop in certain sections has been very damaging to the economy of the whole country. The area most affected is precisely the area in which the highest grade coffee, bringing the highest prices, is grown. Biologists studying the problem say that it is not just the fall of ash on the plants, but rather that it is a scale, which ordinarily is kept under control by certain helpful insects, and these are now being killed by the ash. The dairy industry, once flourishing, has also suffered. Not only have pastures and dairy farms been overrun by the ash which piles up eventually into fantastic forms in which a few blades of grass, or a dead branch of a bush protrude, but also the cattle have died as a result of eating the dust-laden grass.

In spite of all this, Costa Rica is still a country of magnificent views, beautiful flowers, and friendly people. Anyone who spends any time there leaves with a fuller understanding of their problems and a real sympathy for this little country.

Get YOUR Shoulder to the Wheel

This week, the membership Committee of the Crawford County Chamber of Commerce is putting on a crash program to sign up new members and welcome back old members to the fold.

We think this is both wise and necessary step. The push for more tourist business is being stepped up at all levels in Michigan; on an area basis, by counties, by cities and villages. Those areas, counties, cities and villages who set on their hands now, will be sitting most uncomfortably in the future due to the lack of business.

We have heard over the years the standard yelp of the businessman who doesn't want to let up on his dollars, "The Chamber doesn't do me any good." We do not believe for one moment that this is a legitimate excuse or even true. The chamber's actions over the years has helped every business, yes, even every individual in this county. Even the person who makes that statement does not believe it deep in his heart.

So let us move on together to make Crawford County, its townships and Grayling, Frederic and Lovells even more prosperous and a better place to live, to enjoy life, to bring up a family. It can be done, done easily and even more pay off in dividends richer than can be imagined. The area that sticks together, works together, helps each other and forgets the endless griping and mock crying over who benefits most, who works hardest, will move in front in today's battle for the tourist dollar.

And don't you ever forget, the tourist dollar is what keeps you eating, what keeps you warm in the winter. Many in our area do not want to admit that the economy of this area is bound to the tourist. It is... and to get more... give more... join the Chamber. R.W.S.

FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

SEPTEMBER 11, 1941

A fire of undetermined origin started in the Hanson Hardware store building at about 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon, in an upstairs room. Fire and water damaged the structure and the stock of hardware and fixtures at an estimated amount of about $1,000. Just how the fire started seems a mystery. It seemed to have originated from the outside. Burning under the eaves the flames ate their way through the walls into the back room and the attic of the old frame building. Smoke was pouring out from under the roof in almost every part of the building by the time the fire was discovered. The rear rooms were vacant, however, one front room was occupied by Morgan Paige. The firemen succeeded in confining the flames to the back room, and except for water poured down through the upper floor into the hardware store, and just about everything was soaked. Stock that was damaged by water was removed wherever possible in order to reduce the loss. The fire department battled for more than an hour and did an excellent job in extinguishing the flames and saved the building. In the private office in the rear of the first floor, papers and records were damaged by water.

There wasn't even standing room left in the club Saturday night when we saw one of the largest crowds ever in the club. The entertainment, prepared by the officers and band can be termed a success. The show prepared by mostly members of the band brought lots of laughs and fun for everyone, even the participants. The Governor even got a good shower. It was probably the first time most members had heard such a sermon under the same conditions.

Another night of jammed packed entertainment is in the making for Oct. 31st.

The Moose blood bank needs blood, the donors have been very slim, the last few weeks. In an emergency, any member can get blood free of charge, but we've got to have the blood before it can be used.

We all hope that we won't be involved in such an emergency, but no one can foresee the future in such cases, until it's too late the blood that you donate now could be the very blood that saves your life in the near future. Let's not wait until the emergency a-

CARLSON - POWERS UNITED IN MARRIAGE

Michigan Memorial Methodist church was the scene of the wedding which united Miss Julia E. Carlson and Mr. Roderick A. Powers in marriage on Saturday noon, August 29, 1964. The officiating ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. C. Luffer and the Rev. John Smith before eighty guests. The altar was decorated with a low bouquet of gladioli and pom-poms in the wedding party. Large palms flanked the wedding party. Music was by Miss Carol Fenton at the organ, who accompanied the bride. Miss Cheryl Cox of Midland, college roommate of the bride.

Miss Carlson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur V. Carlson of Grayling, and Mr. Powers the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Powers of Gladwin.

The bride chose a gown of nylon silk brocade, fashioned with high scoop neckline, three-quarter length sleeves and a full skirt. Her veil of silk illusion was secured to a crown of christy lace and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses centered with a pale yellow gladioli. She was escorted down the aisle by her father.

Attending the bride were her sister, Miss Christine Carlson, as maid of honor, and the Misses Donna Fenton, Sharon Williams, Grayling, Beth Kingsbury of Lapeer, and Mrs. Larry Gust, Grayling, as bridesmaids. Miss Carlson wore a blue sheath dress of nylon jacquard with nylon organza overskirt. A matching bow and circlet held her veil. Her flowers were a cascade of pink miniature carnations. The bridesmaids' attire was jacquard sheath dresses in pastel green, yellow, pink and beige, styled like the maid of honor's except for the addition of chiffon Watteau trains. Matching bows and circlets, and cascades of miniature carnations in deeper tones of the dresses completed their costumes. Miss Cindi Carlson, sister of the bride, was flower girl. Dressed all in blue nylon, she carried a basket of miniature carnations in the wedding colors.

Brother of the groom Stanley H. Powers was best man. Another brother, John B. Powers, and Dean Fleury, Detroit, Larry Serell, St. Johns, Robert Walker, Dearborn, seated the guests. Younger brothers Richard Carlson and Allen Powers spread the carpet on which the bride made her way to the altar.

The bride's mother chose a beige sheath dress with matching three-quarter lace coat. Orange accessories and miniature orange carnations completed her costume. The groom's mother wore a pink dress and jacket of tulle brocade, with matching accessories and corsage of miniature carnations.

A luncheon buffet was served to the guests in the church parlors.

Ideas To Cut Driver Fatigue Pour Into State Highway Office

COFFEE ANYONE?
Ideas for cutting down motorist fatigue and thus reducing road mishaps pour into the State Highway Department and other offices in Lansing by the dozens.

One recurring suggestion over the last several years has recently been repeated by one Michigan man with authority to help put such ideas into effect.

State Rep. Edward K. Michalski, Detroit Democrat, has renewed the proposal to provide roadside coffee shops at every highway rest area.

This suggestion has been answered time and time again by state officials. They say it would be impossible on the freeway routes because Federal regulations prohibit commercial development on the road.

Michalski contends state-owned, privately operated coffee shops on the super-highways would break the monotony of driving, provide respite for passengers, and open new job opportunities for unskilled workers.

The Detroit legislator also urged a full check of off-highway facilities to be sure food, gas and lodging is available on a 24-hour basis near the high speed routes.

As a member of the Legislature, Michalski would have a voice in appropriations to the Highway Department which would be needed to put his plan into effect.

Plan Trout, Unlimited Annual Convention

Leading trout administrators, scientists, anglers and writers will gather at Aspen, Colorado, Sept. 11 to 13 for the annual convention of Trout Unlimited, the nation's trout conservation organization, whose present president is George A. Griffith of Grayling.

The three-day convention will be capped by a banquet at which Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall will speak. Trout Unlimited will also make its annual trout conservation award at the dinner. Dr. Ralph A. MacMullan, director of the Michigan Department of Conservation will be the toastmaster.

A list of persons who will appear on panel discussions or who will speak during the convention reads like a Who's Who in the world of trout fishing, administration and research.

Discussions will range from such technical subjects as gabion stream improvement devices to "philosophical trout meanderings".

Important ones will center around trout administration, the future of wild trout fishing in the west and wild rivers. Naturally, there will be presentations such as rod building, fly casting and fly tying. All convention sessions except the annual banquet are open to the public.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Bonar on Tuesday moved to the new home three miles north of Ithaca which they recently purchased. They will be closer there to their son and daughter in nearby towns. The Sam Sherwoods provided dinner Monday and breakfast on Tuesday prior to their departure.

Mrs. Johanna Gorman visited her brother Julius Jensen and family in Milford Monday to Thursday last week of August. Her nephew and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Jensen and son Nels brought her home and spent the weekend here with relatives.

From A. B. Stone, Paragould, Ark.: I remember when it took 23 to 25 men and several horses and several days to cut and thresh anywhere from 1,000 to 2,000 bushels of wheat. I doubt very much if many today ever saw an old-fashioned cradle for cutting wheat. It was a scythe about three or four feet long with four wooden fingers and a few braces to make it stronger and a man could either drip it by hand, or wind row the wheat where the man binding would have to go along and take his feet and bunch it and then take a handful of wheat and bind it in bundles. Then they got a binder that cut the wheat and tied it with binder twine, what some hay balers use now. They generally hitched three horses on to the binder. I've heard my dad say the reaper was invented before the binder. It was pulled by two or three horses and had a platform behind the scythe. Two or three men stood on the platform and bound the wheat, with handfuls of wheat, with a twist and a twist underneath the band of wheat—and it would surprise you how securely the bundle was bound.

PALMER - THAYER WED AUGUST 15th

The marriage of Miss Patricia Palmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Palmer of Grayling, and Mr. Jan E. Thayer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Thayer of Grayling, took place at Michelson Memorial Methodist church on August 15, 1964. The seven o'clock candlelight service was performed by the Rev. John Smith and the Rev. R. C. Puffer before one hundred twenty-five guests. Music was by Mrs. Arthur Feldhauser, who sang "The Wedding Prayer". Palm fronds and carnations were used to decorate the chancel.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor-length gown of rose lace over white satin with chapel train. The bodice was fashioned with scalloped neckline and wrist-point sleeves. Her waist-length veil was held by a crown, and her flowers were white carnations and stephanotis with red roses.

Miss Sharon Palmer, sister of the bride, and Miss Julie Thayer, sister of the groom, served as maid of honor and bridesmaid. They wore street-length gowns of nylon over taffeta with bell-shaped skirts embroidered with pearls, shoulder-length veils, and carried bouquets of roses and carnations in colors to match their costumes. The maid of honor wore pink and the bridesmaid wore blue, each wearing white accessories.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Palmer wore a white and gold sheath dress with matching accessories. White and yellow roses completed the ensemble. Mrs. Thayer chose a blue suit with white accessories. Her bouquet was of pink sweet-heart roses.

Attending the bridegroom were Mr. Dan Canfield as best man, and Mr. Dan Tinker. Ushers were Harvey Merithew, Dennis Palmer and Mike Palmer. Stan Haskell of Owosso.

A reception for over two hundred guests was held at the Grayling Sportsman's Club following the wedding. The guests were served by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Barker of the Wayside Inn. Miss Becky Dornier and Mrs. Jerry Krayes assisted the bride with her gifts.

The newlyweds spent a few days in Canada on their honeymoon. He is a 1961 graduate of Grayling High school and served three years in the Naval Reserve. He also attended Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, for one year, and plans to attend Ferris State College. Mrs. Thayer will be a senior at Grayling High this fall. Guests from out-of-town were from Clio, Owosso, Alpena, Lincoln Park, Lansing, Bay City, Chebaning, Flint, Mt. Morris, Covena, California, and Petoskey.

Plan Trout Unlimited Annual Convention

Leading trout administrators, scientists, anglers and writers will gather at Aspen, Colorado, Sept. 11 to 13 for the annual convention of Trout Unlimited, the nation's trout conservation organization, whose present president is George A. Griffith of Grayling.

The three-day convention will be capped by a banquet at which Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall will speak. Trout Unlimited will also make its annual trout conservation award at the dinner. Dr. Ralph A. MacMullan, director of the Michigan Department of Conservation will be the toastmaster.

A list of persons who will appear on panel discussions or who will speak during the convention reads like a Who's Who in the world of trout fishing, administration and research. Discussions will range from such technical subjects as gabion stream improvement devices to "philosophical trout meanderings". Important ones will center around trout administration, the future of wild trout fishing in the west and wild rivers. Naturally, there will be presentations such as rod building, fly casting and fly tying. All convention sessions except the annual banquet are open to the public.

Pretty those Foods
Cut tomatoes almost through in 6 sections and fill with shrimp salad. Sprinkle the top with sieved, hard-cooked egg yolk and serve on raw spinach leaves.
Celery, toasted almonds and bread cubes can be added to tuna with mayonnaise. Spoon into sea food shells and bake until warmed through for a "hot" salad.
Clear soups are pretty garnished with sliced cucumbers or radishes. Cream soups look lovely with salted almonds, cashew nuts, popcorn or minced parsley.
Like vegetable soup? Serve it with tiny meat balls which have simmered gently in a small amount of the top.
Did you know that pureed green peas blended with a thin white sauce and pureed oysters make a delightful soup? Stir in whipped cream at the last minute.
Acorn squash halves make a pretty vegetable when they're filled with lima beans and corn. Top with crumbled bacon.

BITS O' TALK

Pastor and Mrs. Harris Jespersen returned last week from Minnesota where they visited the Pastor's brothers at Krehorn, Minn., and his mother at Wells, Minn., who celebrated her 88th birthday on Aug. 22. On Sunday, Aug. 23 Pastor Jespersen delivered the sermon at the 10th Anniversary celebration of St. Mark Lutheran church, Circle Pines, a suburban mission church which the Jespersens served for nearly 7 years. Several days were spent in visiting at the homes of their many friends in the area. A delightful highlight of their stay in the Minneapolis vicinity was a visit to the fabulous and famous Tyrone Guthrie Theatre where they saw "Volpone" by Ben Jonson. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Marlene May who was a house guest for several days.

Mrs. Norbert Skotnicki came Aug. 29 from Lakewood, Ohio, to spend a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Stephan. She was joined on Friday by her husband. They left Monday, taking their daughter Yelive, who spent the summer here with her grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Andrews and family of Lowell spent the holiday weekend with his mother, Mrs. Grace Andrews. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kobernik came over from Honor weekend before last to visit her. Mr. Kobernik will teach at the new college at Grand Rapids this fall.

Mrs. Reginald Ashton, Dale, Lynda and Karyn of Saginaw spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Gross, while Mr. Ashton was in Lansing and West Branch attending motorcycle races.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Graver Casson were her mother, Mrs. Lora Webster of Louisville, Ill., sister, Mr. and Mrs. Gale Cornwell and daughter Lana and Brenda from Flora, Ill., and her brother James Webster, who is just returned from two years' service with the navy in Africa and is now stationed in Washington D. C.

Linda Harness and Carol Hyde of Birmingham, who were exchange students in Spain with Cheryl Smock, were her weekend guests. They took a trip down the Ausable Saturday and camped out over night. Other weekend guests at the Don Smock home were their daughter, the Charles Mrs. and daughter Kimberly of Ponton.

Ray Snider went to Lansing Thursday to visit his son, Bud, who fell the previous Saturday, through a chimney opening in the roof, a distance of about 25 feet, ending up with seven cracked ribs. He is up and about now, Mr. Snider reports, though not able to work.

Mrs. Harold Longdyke and daughter Doreen recently vacated the Hideout and took a trip to the upper "Y" one, which Mrs. L. had already taken this year with daughter Joanne Cox. However Mrs. L. had stones in her shoes and once again headed for the Lake Superior area. The jaunt included Paradise where much to her delight Doreen saw her first bear, it was a sunny afternoon and Mrs. L. got 3 slide shots with her self winding instamatic camera, shots like this are priceless to camera bugs. The two searched for agates at Whitefish Point, took in the Tahquamenon Falls, too windy for a rowboat ride over to the Lower Falls, a good excuse to return in 1965. Doreen had her second trip through the Soo Locks, and her umpteenth trip to Mackinaw Island. Doreen wanted a ride in the Grand Hotel Rickshaw so Mrs. L. went along with her and they took the swift buggy bike ride down the hill, through the town to the dock. The two made it to the top of Cliff Rock and took the enjoyable ride on the Silver Lake Express through the woods to the lake and back. To top off a wonderful day the travelers went on the moonlight cruise via the Fairy Isle Speed Cruiser at St. Ignace, a great thrill it is to watch the bridge lights come on and to cruise around the giant piers and towers of the Eighth Wonder of the World. After visiting Mrs. William Robinson in Cheboygan, Doreen and her Mom returned to the Hideout to await Mr. Longdyke's arrival for the Labor Day weekend.
